2. Old business:
   a. Dress Code Committee is in the works.
   b. In process: For the upcoming 2026-27 school year, we propose the adoption of a unified late work policy designed to prioritize student learning and grading equity. This policy moves away from traditional grade reductions for late submissions, ensuring that marks reflect academic mastery rather than behavioral compliance. By decoupling time management from achievement, the aim is to provide a more accurate representation of student proficiency while utilizing existing school structures to address accountability.

      This shift is intended to align our practices with the standards-based grading systems being implemented at the elementary level. Creating this consistency ensures a seamless transition for incoming students, eliminates systemic confusion for families, and reinforces our commitment to an inclusive, mastery-focused academic environment.
